

Manage Your Melt Differently.

Inductotherm's iSense™ System brings your equipment together like never before allowing you to quickly connect to your data. With the history of the equipment stored at your fingertips—you can easily identify what data you want to see and within what time frame. No other application on the market provides the range of information that you get with the iSense™ System. The future of advanced diagnostics for monitoring equipment and process via remote access 24/7 using web and mobile clients is here and being used across the globe—proving that instant access to intuitive technology creates an easier and more user-friendly experience.
